

Vanessa Barrett, Digital Services Librarian, University of Adelaide Libraries

In her role as the Digital Services Librarian at the University of Adelaide Libraries Vanessa is responsible for managing the University's Institutional Repository team as well as the team which deals with copyright and licensed learning objects.

This is Vanessa's third career. Following her early working years as a teacher and teacher/librarian, she then joined a library automation vendor in 1987 and worked for that same company for 20 years. When they closed their Adelaide office she looked elsewhere and has been working at the University since the beginning of 2008. Vanessa continues to relish the opportunities and challenges that her current role presents.

The Adelaide University has great classic books set up as ebooks in their collection. Some of these derive from Bibliomania, google books and Uni Adelaide ebooks.
